GEORGE WASHINGTON'S

FIRST THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

October 3, 1789

Whereas, it is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God, to obey His will, to be grateful for His benefits, and humbly to implore His protection and favor; and

Whereas, both Houses of Congress have, by their joint committee, requested me "to recommend to the people of the United States a day of public thanksgiving and prayer; to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many and signal favors of Almighty God, especially by affording them an opportunity peaceably to establish a form of government for their safety and happiness.

Now, therefore, I do recommend and assign Thursday, the 26th day of November next, to be devoted by the people of these States to the service of that great and glorious Being who is the beneficent author of all the good that was, that is, or that will be; that we may then all unite in rendering unto Him our sincere and humble thanks for His kind care and protection of the people of this country previous to their becoming a nation; for the signal and manifold mercies and the favorable interpositions of His providence in the course and conclusion of the late war; for the great degree of tranquility, union, and plenty which we have since enjoyed; for the peaceable and rational manner in which we have been enabled to establish constitutions of government for our safety and happiness, and particularly the national one now lately instituted; for the civil and religious liberty with which we are blessed, and the means we have of acquiring and diffusing useful knowledge; and, in general, for all the great and various favors which He has pleased to confer upon us.

And also that we may then unite in most humbly offering our prayers and supplications to the great Lord and Ruler of Nations, and beseech Him to pardon our national and other transgressions; to enable us all, whether in public or private stations, to perform our several and relative duties properly and punctually; to render our National Government a blessing to all the people by constantly being a Government of wise, just and constitutional laws, discreetly and faithfully executed and obeyed; to protect and guide all sovereigns and nations (especially such as have shown kindness to us), and to bless them with good governments, peace, and concord; to promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue, and the increase of science among them and us; and generally, to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as He alone knows to be best.

Given under my hand, at the city of New York, the 3rd day of October A.D. 1789.

Every once in a while, a sense of humor is the most important thing. It holds things together. One's good fortune in one area is not without misfortune in another. Here's a joke that caught the eye:

"There was the man sentenced to 10 years in a prison who, when asked by the judge if he had anything to say, replied: 'It seems to me, judge, that you have been mighty generous with my time.'"

53,212 Acres For Milam

1970 Cotton Allotment Up

The 1970 upland cotton allotment for Milam County is 53,212 acres, an increase of 3,323 acres over the 1969 allotment.

A million-acre increase in the national cotton allotment was made for 1970 to help assure adequate U. S. cotton stocks for both domestic and foreign markets.

Alva Sanders, manager of the county Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office, said individual farm acreage allotments and yields for the 1970 cotton crop have been mailed to farm operators in Milam County.

Upland cotton producers will vote by mail December 1-5 on whether to approve marketing quotas for the 1970 crop. Ballots will be mailed Friday to all eligible voters. Generally, all producers who shared in the 1969 cotton crop or its proceeds are eligible to vote in the referendum.

For marketing quotas to remain in effect, the law requires approval of at least two-thirds of the producers voting.

If marketing quotas are approved, they will apply to the 1970 upland cotton crop, with penalties on any excess cotton produced. Loans and price-support payments will be available to cooperating growers who plant within their allotments.

The loans will be based on a national average rate of 20.25 cents a pound. The price-support payment rate will be 16.80 cents a pound on the farm's projected yield for the average planted within the farm's domestic allotment. The domestic allotment is 65 percent of a farm's total upland cotton allotment.

If quotas are approved, farms with allotments of 10 acres or less, or with projected production (allotment times projected yield) of 3.60 pounds or less, may plant the entire farm allotment and receive an additional payment of 11.95 cents per pound on the projected yield of 35 percent of the farm allotment. The price-support payment on the domestic allotment also will be made.

Also, if quotas are approved, growers who elect not to participate in the price-support program may apply for a share of an export market acreage reserve on which they may grow and export all their cotton without price support and without marketing quota penalties.

If marketing quotas are not approved, no quotas or penalties for the 1970 upland cotton crop will be in effect. No price-support payments will be made and no export reserve acreage will be available. Price support loans, however, will be available at 50 percent of parity to growers who do not exceed their farm acreage allotment. Growers choosing to forego price-support loans could grow all the cotton they wished to grow.

Americans Need Revival Of Pioneer Spirit, Says Watson

A revival of the "spirit of the American pioneers" was urged by Sen. Murray Watson in his address to a joint luncheon gathering of Cameron Rotary and Lions Clubs Tuesday.

Making a tradition of 31 years, the joint Thanksgiving meeting was hosted this year by the Noon Lions at Cameron Country Club.

About 60 club members and guests heard Watson say that America, while being challenged now by many problems, still had the spirit that formed a country out of nothing. Watson said he was confident of a revival of that pioneer spirit.

He added that Americans should not apologize for being Americans or for feeling patriotic. "We should be thankful we are part of such a country," Watson said.

Anti-Rat Drive Slated For City Downtown Section

A rat extermination program for the downtown Cameron area has been scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, December 8 and 9.

Roddy Holcombe, Milam County Sanitation Officer, said Fumarin Rodenticide would be used in the local program. He said single doses of Fumarin baits are not fatal, so there is little danger of accidental poisoning of humans or domestic animals.

Two representatives of the Dept. of Interior, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, will work with Holcombe in Cameron.

The program is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and is administered by the Milam County Health Dept.

ROGERS, MART IN REGIONAL TILT FRIDAY

"It's going to be a real tough game," Rogers Coach Don Godwin said about the Eagle - Panther Class A Regional match at Marlin Friday night.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. with Rogers the home team.

Coach Godwin said his team is in "good shape" and is looking forward to the game. A victory over Mart will put the Eagles against White Oak, rated number one in the state. "We'd sure like to play them," Godwin said.

Overall, the Panthers outweigh the Eagles, Godwin said, and he expects the game to be somewhat like the Eagle - Rosebud game, when Rogers fought hard for the narrow 14-13 win over that team. The Eagles play mostly ground football while Mart "throws more than we do," Godwin added. Mart is undefeated while Rogers has a 10-1 season record, losing only to Class AA Round Rock, 22-6.

Rogers defeated Groveton 49-14 in bi-district action last Friday. Mart took Leander, 37-0 on Friday. Eagle backs Eugene Brenek, T. J. Griffin, and Wayne Psenick head the Rogers offense, while Don Mayfield leads defense.

Rogers Approves Sewer Extension

Rogers voters approved proposed sewer system improvements in a $100,000 city bond election Tuesday.

In a larger than anticipated turnout, voters cast 53 ballots for the bonds and 5 against. City officials said a normal turnout for an election of this type would be about 20 to 25 voters and attributed the larger vote to enthusiasm for the improvements.

The present sewer system was built in the late 1940's and does not reach one housing project built since that time. Remodeling will extend the sewer line to everyone within the city limits.

Following canvass of the votes, the city council will call for bond bids.

Plans for the system's remodeling and extension have been completed and Mayor Bob Persky said although the bond election had been set at $100,000, they don't anticipate project expenses to be that high.

Fred Soules and Associates of Waco are consulting engineers for the extension plans.

Ruben Johnson Dies; Was Model Train Builder

Ruben M. Johnson, 64, died at 8:45 p.m. Tuesday night in a local hospital. He was born January 7, 1905 in Cameron and lived here all his life.

Mr. Johnson was a model train enthusiast and built authentic models of trains that had operated in Texas. His models have been exhibited at fairs, including the State Fair in Dallas, and several units are now a part of model train collections in the state.

Funeral services will be held Thursday (today) at 11 a.m. at St. Monica's Catholic Church, the Rev. Paul McCallum and the Rev. Emilian Foityn officiating. Burial will be in St. Monica Cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Marie L. Johnson of Cameron; two sons, Ruben H. Johnson and John M. Johnson both of Austin; three daughters, Mrs. Rose Marie Lindsay of Bryan, Miss Barbara Jo Johnson of Austin, and Mrs. Louise Duval of Dallas; two brothers, Louis H. Johnson and Fred Johnson both of Austin; three sisters, Mrs. Maude McDermott of Cameron, Mrs. Louise Merrill of Victoria, Mrs. Mary Lamb of Dallas; and eight grandchildren.

Maurel - Burns Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

LAW SAYS EVERYONE TO REGISTER

About 4,000 voters have registered in Milam County and another 5,000 or 6,000 are expected to register before the January 31 deadline.

Robert Kalkbrenner, tax office deputy, said registrations were being taken only at the Tax Office in Cameron at present, but would be available in Thorndale and Rockdale in January. He said 9,637 registered to vote in Milam County last year.

Kalkbrenner said the new voter registration regulations require everyone who casts a vote must be registered, except a person absent from their county of residence in active military service.

In state balloting, a race is possible for Governor, and other state executive offices. State Senator (office now held by Ralph Yarborough) and U.S. Representative (now held by W. R. Poage).

Local offices up for re-election are: District Clerk, County Judge, County Clerk, County School Superintendent, County Treasurer, Commissioners precincts 2 and 4, Justice of Peace precincts 1, 3, 4 and 8.

Also to be voted on in November are constitutional amendments including liquor-by-the-drink.

Kalkbrenner said voters must fill in two forms this year, an application for registration and a registration form. Election lists are made up by precincts and he said it helped tax office workers if registrants know their precinct and put it on the form.

He also said that a mother, father, son or daughter could sign a registration form for a voter unable to come in person.

Marijuana Trial Set In February

Narcotics cases charging three young men from Austin with possession of marijuana have been reset for trial on February 10, 1970 in the District Court of Milam County.

David M. Elliott, Walter Homer Snow, Jr. and Frederick Earl Calaway were arrested and charged with possession of marijuana on May 18 after a patch of marijuana was reported being grown near Thorndale.

Mail Service Is Slow, Say Poage

"Although I can travel from Washington to Texas in a fraction of the time that it took when I first went to Washington, my mail comes no quicker than it did 30 years ago. . ." Cong. W. R. Poage told a crowd of about 200 at Gause Sunday.

Speaking at the dedication of the new Gause post office building, the legislator had words of praise for the efficiency of the postal service on the local level, especially in this area of Texas.

Deterioration of railroad service throughout the country was blamed by Poage as one main cause for poor postal service between distant communities and states throughout the nation.

"I don't want to try to fix any blame or condemn anyone but when our railroads began to pull off their passenger trains the Post Office Department's ability to deliver mail to the local offices became impaired," he said.

"I don't know whether we can blame the railroads for pulling off the trains or blame the Post Office Department for taking its mail away from the trains. I recognize that as the Post Office Department transferred mail to the trucks, it reduced the revenue of the trains and their service became still poorer. . ."

Poage added that the mail is "not nearly so dependable" as it was 30 years ago.

The congressman was introduced by Cameron Postmaster Narvie Caperton. Mrs. O. L. Harlan Gause Postmaster, made the opening remarks at the post office dedication program.

Many area postmasters and visitors attended the dedication.

Rockdale Boy Scout Troop 789 raised the flag, which had flown over the Post Office Building and the Capitol in Washington, D. C.

Rev. R. W. Hillenkamp and Rev. Walter Bollinger, Gause pastors, gave the invocation and benediction.

Sentenced Man Captured After Brief City Hunt

Charles Loftin, 36, sentenced last week to two years in prison, slipped away from county officers about mid-morning Wednesday after a hearing in District Court. He was recaptured a short time later at a relative's home near 18th and Fannin Sts.

County, city and state police joined in the brief hunt Wednesday. Loftin, 37, originally from the Buckholts area, lists his address as Odessa. He was found guilty of attempted burglary of the Elbert Svetlik Store in Buckholts last May.

Sheriff Black said he had attacked City Police Sgt. Felipe Martinez while charges were being filed in Justice of Peace court last summer. Tuesday, while awaiting transfer to Huntsville, he broke 14 windows in the second floor of county jail.

Sheriff's deputies drove him to Huntsville Wednesday afternoon.

Well-Fed Deer Test Hunting Skill

Good fall rains and the resulting green feeding areas will mean a skill test this year, is the assessment of Charles W. Ramsey, Extension wildlife specialist at Texas A&M University.

Ramsey says that in areas of the state where there have been extra amounts of precipitation this fall, the already adequate deer crop will be difficult to hunt. He explained that where there is an abundance of green weeds or a good acorn crop, the deer will get up only to feed for short periods of time and then lay back down.

He added that the deer population is slightly decreased in certain areas of Texas, but not to any great degree.

"Generally the deer will be in good condition this year, and because of this, they will be hard to hunt," Ramsey commented.

Ramsey says that the hunter's success depends on the movement of the deer rather than the deer density. This movement is in turn dependent on the available food supply. If the food supply is good, the animals will not go to the feed pens and expose themselves to the hunter's slow blind.

An exception to this slow movement might be the early rutting, or breeding, season for certain bucks. The excellent food supply has resulted in an earlier rutting season than usual, Ramsey explained that during this time, the buck will go off feed and begin wandering, thus exposing himself to the hunter.

Ramsey says that the hunter can estimate the deer possibilities in his specific hunting area. A good acorn crop or an abundance of green weeds will mean the deer have an adequate food supply and are not moving around. If the bucks are rutting, the hunter can see "buck rubs" and hunt trails where the deer are travelling.

He emphasized that in most areas, the deer are just as plentiful as other years. He added that since the hunting regulations differ from county to county over the state, any questions can be answered by the local conservation officer in the hunting area.

Yoe Cagers 1-1 After Two Openers

Johnny Steamer led scoring in Tuesday's cage action with 13 points but the Yoe-men dropped their second game of the season to Robinson, 46-41.

The Yoe varsity got off to a flying start in Friday's game at Marlin when after a night of nip-and-tuck scoring they came out on top with a 43-39 victory over the Bulldogs.

Jerry Richardson, Robert Brashear, and Steamer led scoring in Friday's game with 13, 12, and 11 points respectively.

Willie White and Brashear scored 11 Tuesday night and Richardson and Larry McClaren 3 each. Coach Ron Murdock said the Yoe-men connected on just 26 percent of their total shots.

Murdock described Waco's Robinson team as taller and much more experienced, with ten returning starters from last year. Four boys are 6' 5", with some 6' 3" players, two 6' 1" and a 5' 10".

A "real good crowd" turned out for the first home game, he noted.

The junior varsity lost to Robinson, 51-43, with Richard Johnson leading scoring with 11 points, Dean Prokisch 9 and Ronald Gilbert 8. The Yoe JV's lost to Marlin in the opener, 25-19.

The freshman team lost their first match Tuesday night, 33-17 Robinson's favor. Dennis Hardwick scored 7 points and Larry Jackson 4.

Asking price for the Highlands, completely furnished in fine antiques, is $200,000.

The mansion has twin parlors with 23 Kt. gold leaf ceilings, a 2 1/2 story great hall with a large dome of leaded stained glass, 4 bedroom suites and nine fire places.

572 Hunters Pay For Game Law Violations

As usual this time of year, more hunters than fishermen are breaking game laws—and paying for it.

Of the 1,388 convictions in October for game, fish and water safety violations, 572 involved hunting regulations, with 73 for improperly filled deer tags. Total fines netted the State of Texas treasury $35,116.15.

Other categories which brought large numbers of citations were: discharging firearms on a public road, hunting from a motor vehicle, hunting with an unplugged gun, killing doves in closed season and hunting at night.

Crappie Tops In Somerville Lake

Somerville Reservoir, approximately 15 miles northwest of Brenham, has a high proportion of crappie to other game fish, and the population is growing.

A recent Texas Parks and Wildlife Department netting survey of the lake showed a 67 per cent sports fish population, and more than 50 per cent of the sports fish were crappie.

Bass, sunfish, crappie and catfish, excluding bullheads, are considered sports fish.

Bill Provine, the Department biologist who headed the survey, said the average crappie is smaller this year than it was last year, but a decrease in size is expected as a lake grows older.

Provine says fishermen are unable to catch enough crappie to keep the population from stunting.

Because of good availability of natural food in the lake, crappie fishing has slowed somewhat, but fishermen with the knowhow are still taking good stringers of them.

Provine says he talked recently with a man who had fished all night. The man caught 150 crappie.

Mrs. Pearl Nutt of Marlin visited from Monday until Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wilson. She also visited in the T. H. Lovelace and Fred Wilson homes. Mrs. Billy Nutt came for her and visited for a short while.

High Traffic Toll Is 'Emergency'

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — A "State of emergency" exists for reducing Texas' traffic toll, Gov. Preston Smith warned in addressing some 700 safety-minded persons who answered his call to attend a public support conference to discuss the problem and how to solve it.

Result is a new statewide safety campaign. It got underway immediately and is focusing efforts on the holiday periods—Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years. These are the times when accident frequency is usually high.

Smith reminded the conference of community leaders that 10 Texans a day die in automobile accidents. Figures provided by the Texas Safety Association reveal that last month alone the loss—dollarwise—amounted to $77 million. Crashes in Texas' urban areas account for $50 million of this figure.

Causes?

Higher speed limits, abolishing the old merit-rating insurance plan which called for higher premiums on bad-risk drivers and a 1965 law which allows judges to prolate misdemeanor sentences including traffic offenses were blamed for the climbing death rate.

Whatever the cause, 3,481 died last year, 217,000 were hurt and $975 million in economic losses chalked up. Department of Public Safety statistics indicate 3,700 will die this year unless holiday safety campaigns are a remarkable success.

"The grim reality," said Smith, "is that one out of every seven motor vehicles registered in Texas was involved in an accident in 1968. The certainty of 10 Texans losing their lives on the highways of our state each and every day is more than tragic. It constitutes a crisis—a crisis that, in my mind, is a state of emergency."

OIL ALLOWABLE ROCKETED

State oil production allowable zooms to a near record 62.7 per cent of potential for December under a Railroad Commission order.

December figure is highest set under present formulas except for last June's 63.5 per cent. It will authorize a maximum 3,770,319—barrel daily production. This is 472,051 more than November which was limited to 32.7 per cent allowable. Estimated daily production during December is expected to average out at 3,194,476.

Five of 14 major crude oil purchasers asked for an allowable increase. Eight asked retention of the November level, and only one sought a reduction.

EDUCATION'S INVESTMENTS

Moving more heavily into equities instead of debt investments, the Texas State Board of Education has decided to put 60 per cent of its income into corporation stocks. It may increase that to 70 per cent if it finds bargains in the stock market in November and December.

Board took this action after two vice presidents of the Chase Manhattan Bank, the board's fiscal advisors, suggested heavier investments in common stocks. Voters of Texas have removed the constitutional limit that the fund's money must go 50 per cent into municipal and government bonds.

Board of Education buys from $4 million to $5 million worth of securities a month. It put the $4.1 million it got from cash bonuses on oil and gas leases on Nov. 4 mainly into U.S. treasury bills. This was timed so as to fill in the gaps in the year ahead and hold average buying to about $4 million.

COURTS SPEAK

State Supreme Court in a major will contest held that 22-year-old Army Sgt. Albert Buckman Wharton III is sole heir to the $45 million oil-ranching estate of Electra Waggoner (for whom the town of Electra was named).

High Court set arguments for December 17 in a case which will determine if private clubs in dry areas can hire agents to buy liquor for "locker system" pools. Four months ago the Third Court of Civil Appeals holding against the State Liquor Control Board, said such a procedure is legal.

Sixteen-year-sentence of a 17-year-old Dallas youth for possession of marijuana was reversed by the Court of Criminal Appeals on grounds that there was no evidence the boy was ever in the room where burned marijuana was found.

San Antonio discount stores have filed a motion for reconsideration of a split Supreme Court decision on upholding Saturday - Sunday closing law's constitutionality.

ATTORNEY GENERAL SPEAKS

A Court order stating a person with a suspended driver's license can drive under certain conditions with an "occupational license" must set out the actual hours of the day that driving is permitted, says Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin.

Martin altered an earlier opinion to reflect that those seeking "occupational licenses" need only a court order and proof of insurance (or its equivalent) under the Texas' Safety Responsibility Law.

Darkness Looking For Light . . .

One of the most distressing signals of the day is the despair waiting the senses of theology, philosophy and politics.

Churches confuse capitalism with Christianity; political parties confuse opportunism with statesmanship; philosophy confuses dialectic with free thought.

Less is their confusion than their fusion. These institutions struggle to contend with change outside their walls and ranks. They hope to draw in people and ideas, when, in fact, they must go out to save themselves, let alone the foundless. And they see despair. Perhaps it is better to say they see things as they are.

If they share that commodity, there is hope. Once there is the blackness of obsidian, there is none darker. And the alternative is cohesion in this fusion, a new institution of greater proportion.

portion, more visible standing there, its great purposes and ideas cleared of inanities, flux, brain smog, small ways.

When things are at a minimum, institutions, of people, can resist stoicism, fatalistic conservatism, incontinent liberality. They can see what is; they can be honest; and once honest, discreet with the changes inevitable for institutions as products of our evolution.

Institutions having most trouble are the ones seeing things in one time, one temper. These institutions will snap, like tinder. History changes daily, and history crushes daily.

Despair is a poor place to start, but as good as any. Survival is more like living when there is a little light.

Empty plaudits follow empty promises in empty halls. Senseless . . . sightless . . . soundless. Darkness looking for light.

One Way At A Time . . .

Unity starts at home, where so many other things start.

Milam County is apparently being pulled this way and that on this regional planning question. We are joined and have at least half a dozen Countains on the Waco - centered organization while the Bell County - centered organization also seeks our participation.

And it is our understanding a third such regional planning group is or will be oriented in the Bryan - College Station.

This not only dramatizes a dilemma for Milam and Cameron leadership on which way to go and which way to stay, but also dramatizes the centrality of Milam's location and its value geographically and economically to the whole of Central Texas, not merely a half dozen or dozen counties.

Knowing of our reputation, we say again Milam County is a key to non-metro Central Texas development which in not many years will be metro development. It is happening thus throughout the nation and must happen here. The reasons are obvious. And these regionals questing after our support only emphasize the fact.

We must, therefore, plan with a regional relationship in mind, a Central Texas relationship, but we can go only one way at a time.

Co-Operation Smooths Highways . . .

It is easy to enthuse over the Texas Highway Dept.'s $2 million plans for Milam highways in 1970.

Not more than a dozen years ago, Milam's farm-to-market system was in the mud mostly, or at best in gravel. Now we have 193 miles of paved farm highways and 124 miles of paved primaries.

Cameron leaders for years have worked almost as hard as County officials to alter the former to the latter. Milam's roadway system, safe for the freeway variety, compares with any county in Texas.

The barbecue honoring highway officials annually is a good time for the professional road builders to meet many of the people who want better road transportation and who are responsible for accruing right-of-way. One spokesman last week said District 17 road builders push county officials to keep enough right-of-way available for widening and straightening projects which come regularly from their drawing boards.

Milam's era of "good feeling", which conditions almost everything we do these days, includes the highway rapport between Cameron-Milam leaders and Texas Highway Dept. professionals in Bryan, Hearne, Cameron and Austin.

We can thank all these people for the results. Indeed, we drive on highways as smooth as this co-operation every day.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

After reading about it in the newspapers and listening to it on television — I'm talking about the big controversy stirred up by Vice President Agnew over the way television handles the news — I've decided what this country needs is a Department of Humor with full cabinet status.

I mean, now you take Mr. Agnew's complaint about the way a panel of commentators handled President Nixon's speech a while back. As he reported, as soon as Mr. Nixon got through speaking, these commentators came on and sat around tearing his remarks apart and explaining what he said and didn't say and generally going on. Mr. Agnew objected to it, said they ought to let the public digest the speech on its own.

I hadn't thought of it that way. I don't know those commentators were there to contribute anything or influence anybody. I thought they were there because television operates on an inflexible schedule, it never ends a program at say 10 minutes till 9 but always exactly on the hour or half-hour.

and it was their job to fill out the 10 minutes left over from the President's speech. I didn't hear what they said because I left to get a drink of water, but I didn't suppose anybody paid any attention to what they were saying. I thought they were just killing time till the clock reached 9 and the regular patent medicine commercial could come on, although of course it could have been the one about false teeth.

A Department of Humor could be used to explain that the only people who take the commentators seriously are the commentators and that if say Gunsnoke ever ended 10 minutes short of the hour they'd be used to round out the clock with a discussion of the sociological-economic impact of Festus Hagen.

As for Mr. Agnew's complaint that television concentrates on the sensational, like focusing on a window smashing by a few marchers when 100,000 others are walking peacefully, or on 50 students throwing a clean out when 20,000 others are in their rooms studying or reading comic books, he's right, of course, but that's human nature for you.

There never was a football game so exciting that the fans' attention couldn't be drawn away, even during a tie-breaking touchdown run, by a fist fight in the stands between two drunks.

Of course, one fist fight right after another would finally become boring, and Mr. Agnew is right in sensing that the mob scenes are becoming tiresome.

By the way, I asked a man who watches the television news without fail every night what happened a few minutes after the show was over last night since I'd missed it and for the life of him he couldn't tell me.

A lot of things on television shouldn't be taken too seriously. Make that 95 per cent.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Why Are People Buying Farms?

J. D. Moore
The rate of return on farmland today is quite low. Yet people continue to invest in farm real estate.
What kinds of people are investing in farmland and what are their reasons for purchasing it? We asked M. L. Upchurch, administrator with the Economic Research Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, several leading questions in an attempt to find the answer.
Who is purchasing farmland today—present farmers expanding, new farmers, nonfarm corporations, or nonfarm speculators?
Farmers have long been the dominant buyers of land, accounting for about two-thirds of all purchases in recent years. Farmers are seeking land for expansion; our survey in March 1968 showed that 57 percent of all purchases were for farm enlargement.
In the Corn Belt and wheat areas, more than two-thirds of all purchases were tracts to add to existing farms. In fact, only about one transfer in four represents the purchase of a complete farm operating unit.
Nonfarmers are a minor, but significant class of buyer in some parts of the country. They want a few acres for a rural residence or a part-time farm or they buy land strictly as an investment.
Income, considering both real estate appreciation and annual net returns, has been lower for farmland than for alternative investments in common stocks. Why then do people continue to invest in farm real estate?
Annual returns to farm land over the past decade averaged about 3.6 percent from current earnings and 5.5 percent from appreciation, a total of 9.1 percent. Annual returns on a composite of 500 common stocks were 3.1 percent from dividends and 8.7 percent from appreciation, a total of 11.8 percent. These are average figures. Many landowners and many stock investors have done better, or worse than this. But these figures alone do not tell the whole story.
First, farmland has appreciated at a more consistent rate than common stock. Stock prices declined in three of the past ten years, while farmland increased every year.
But I think that the big difference not shown by totals or averages is the opportunity for realizing returns from equity in land. Down payments on land purchases average about 25 percent of the purchase price and are often less under installment land contracts. Stock purchases currently require 80 percent to be paid in cash.

Two proposals being considered for farm legislation are limitations on per-farm government payments and an expanded land reserve program. What would be the likely effects of each on land prices?
An expanded land retirement program would tend to reduce the supply of land offered for sale. More competition among buyers for land on the market should strengthen prices. This happened in the late 1950's when the Soil Bank program was at its peak. The level of payments offered under such a program and the prospect for commodity prices would be important factors.
Limitations on government payments would tend to dampen the demand for land for farm enlargement; the lower the limit, the greater will be the effect.
Do you expect a continuation of the upward trends in land prices through the 1970's?
We really need to look at two different crystal balls in answering that question. One would focus on land likely to be used only for farming. The other would focus on land that is expected to acquire a "people value"—land for urban expansion, recreation, highways, parks, etc.
Let's consider agricultural lands first. I don't think we can reasonably expect an actual shortage of land for the production of food and fiber through the 1970's. Advances in technology have, in effect, "stretched" an acre by 45 percent since 1950.
The anticipated increases in population will continue to push up land prices in the path of urban growth, and on out into areas that are still primarily agricultural. But we already see evidence that land is being used more efficiently for living space. Cluster development, high rise apartments and the rebuilding of central cities has already slowed the outward thrust of the larger cities.
We can still expect "mini-booms" wherever a new industrial plant is built, a new airport, or new recreational facilities. Some of the most spectacular increases in land prices have occurred in such areas. Land that provides space for people is a different commodity than land used only for crops or pasture.

CHAMP JUDGES from Cameron will compete in the National 4-H Poultry Judging contest in Chicago this weekend pitted against judging teams from 15 states. The team, which won state championship honors recently, is sponsored for the trip by Texas Poultry Association. Team members are from left Julius Tepera, Wayne Jistel, Melvin Hollas and Mike Darilek. They will be accompanied by their Coach, J. D. Moore.

Milam Team In National Contest

60 4-H members and their leaders bring a part of agriculture to the University of Illinois Chicago Circle Campus November 29 when the campus hosts the National 4-H Poultry Judging contest.
Registered for the sixth time in championship poultry judging 12 years will be another Texas team from Milam County. In 1967 the Milam County team placed second in the national contest at Chicago.
Team members this year, all Yoe High School students, are: Julius Tepera, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Tepera of Cameron; Wayne Jistel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Jistel, Cameron; Melvin Hollas, son of Mrs. Hugo Hollas, Cameron; and Mike Darilek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Darilek, Cameron.
J. D. Moore, coach for all six of the championship teams, will accompany the boys to Chicago Wednesday and be on hand for the judging Saturday. "This is one of the finest group of boys it has been my pleasure to work with. They work hard, they are well behaved and we have never had a problem or a case of having to call them into line," Moore said about the team.
The young poultrymen will judge laying hens. They will grade live and dressed dryers and fowl, and dressed turkey hens. Each contestant will also score both broken-out and shell eggs as well as exterior quality of eggs.
The contest is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service and financed by the American Poultry and Hatchery Federation and other poultry businesses. National winners will be announced at a November 29 recognition banquet.
Chairmen of the national event are Hugh S. Johnson, U. of I. Extension poultryman, and Don Schwall, Armour and Co., Oak Brook, Illinois.
Four - member teams are expected from Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland,

TOWN and COUNTRY

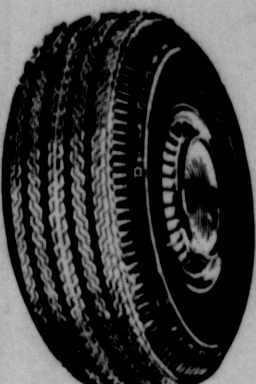

TFB Appoints Smith To Board

WACO
Far-reaching changes in the structure of the Texas Farm Bureau and its policy positions were initiated by voting delegates at the 26th annual TFB convention held Nov. 16-19 in San Antonio. A total of 1,518 persons from 161 counties, including 953 official voting delegates, were registered for the meeting which elected officers including John A. Smith of Cameron as a State Director.
Sidney Dean of Victoria was re-elected president under a new procedure for electing the organization's chief executive. Heretofore, all officers were elected by the Board of Directors from among their own number in a meeting immediately following the adjournment of the convention. An amendment to the TFB by-laws were approved this year calling for the election of the president from the floor.
Other officers, elected by the Board as in the past, are M. F. (Mike) Frost of McAllen, vice president; and H. L. (Hub) King of Brownfield secretary - treasurer. Frost is the District 13 director, and King is director from District 2.
Two new state directors were elected. They are Carrol G. Chaloupka of Dalhart and John A. Smith of Cameron. Chaloupka was elected for a two-year term as state director from District 1 replacing J. D. Coleman of Wellington. Smith was elected in District 8 to serve out the one-year unexpired term of Dr. G. Kendrick, Jr., of Marlin who resigned.
Several other by-law amendments were approved in addition to the change in the method of electing the president. The tenure of state directors was limited to three two-year terms. New rules on per diem for board members were established. A change was made in the structure of the Resolutions Committee, reducing by half the number of directors to serve. The executive director was made the chief administrative officer, to be hired by the Board of Directors upon recommendation by the president.
State policies were adopted on a number of issues including cotton, fruits and vegetables, firearms, safety, education, natural resources, labor, monetary spending and tax policies, transportation, and state government. The delegates voted down a resolution to support the Texas Water Plan.
One of the cotton resolutions passed called for the acquisition of state funds and existing federal funds to help exterminate the boll weevil throughout the state. The delegates approved a resolution calling for reinstatement of the Bracero Program under the administration of USDA instead of the Department of Labor. They recommended that agricultural or at least you shouldn't unless you are crediting the word with its full potential.

You Don't Say

The dictionary definition of EFFETE (ih FEET) is: 1. Having lost strength or virility; lacking vigor. 2. Incapable of further production; barren, as an animal, plant or the soil.
HOWEVER— It should not take a great deal of intelligence to recognize our vice president's definition when the quality of the hippy group he was referring to is considered.
His definition: Incapable of, worn out or drained of all worthwhile, constructive or PRODUCTIVE ACTIVITY.

The 4-H'ers with beef steers, heifers, and bulls should be walking their calves every day and washing them at least once every two weeks and preferably once every week from now until show time. The 4-H'ers with these projects are David Ehler, Melvin Hollas, Hill Culpepper, Brian Cobb, Della Laywe, Blane Laywell and Donald Fleming.
The swine projects are in full swing. All pigs have now been castrated and are on full feed. These pigs must be fed daily and walked starting today. Feed High Quality Hay This Winter

COLLEGE STATION
Forage production has been limited on many pastures this fall, and livestock producers should pay close attention to the quality of hay used, advises Neal Pratt, Extension agronomist, Texas A&M University.
Hay can furnish all or most of the nutritive requirements of beef cattle if quality is at acceptable level, and amounts are in adequate supply, says Pratt.
Beef cows without calves can obtain their daily requirements from hay of 9 to 10 percent crude protein, if sufficient amounts are available. For cows with calves, a crude protein content of 12 to 14 percent is needed, notes the specialist.
Hay supplies in many areas of the state have been somewhat limited this fall, due to inadequate rainfall, says the agronomist. Although quality has been favorable the reduced supply should be fed to maximize its use, he adds.

If there's a better way, we'll find it.

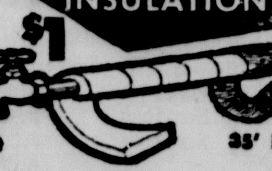

Thomas A. Edison, the research genius of his time, found a "better way" of life for the world when he first put electricity to use. Later, research by the electric industry and companies like Texas Power & Light Company created hundreds of new conveniences for home, industry and farm. And the future seems limitless. TP&L, in cooperation with other electric utilities, universities and the electric industry, has carried on a number of research programs spanning a wide variety of fields—from exploring the possibilities of converting heat and chemical energy directly into electricity, to developing a vastly improved design for electric water heaters and taking a part in nuclear study, research and development programs. If there's a better way, we'll find it!

A Closer Walk With God Will Lead You Right Straight to Church

Read the 150th Psalm for a clue.

It begins and ends with a call for all men to praise God. Let everything that hath breath praise the Lord. Perhaps we would do well to follow David in this matter of being Thankful. Our Pilgrim Fathers did. They put God right in the center of every Thanksgiving day. It was the Lord's Day . . . not just another day void of work. Then just what is there about Thanksgiving, about God, that makes me glad? What is it that lifts my face to Heaven when I am sad and when I am glad? Too many times we find the weak, the hungry, the sick and the sad way out in front with their Thanksgiving to God for His fairness, His kindness and His goodwill. Certainly the Great God goes beyond justice to establish love as the central virtue. He gave up His Son to prove it to us beyond a doubt. He calls on us to be very Thankful for health, if we have it — for wealth, if we own it — and for that friend who can turn us on when our way is dark. He invites all of us to live like women and men who know very well about God, . . . to be grateful for the few days He gave us which have been full of the trouble He promised. Don't ever let us say a final farewell to dear ones, but let us be Thankful for His promise that we may find them again. Thank you, Lord, for these reasons and many more. Amen.

Friendship Has 64-Year Tradition

By Mrs. Leroy Guillote
The Friendship Methodist Church will have Thanksgiving services beginning at ten-thirty Thursday morning. The services will be followed by dinner on the grounds. For 64 years, these services have been held so that the little community may give thanks for their many blessings.

Two fires broke out in the Friendship community. Highwinds caused a power line to break, setting fire in the Ross McQuary pasture. Electricity was out for three and half hours. The fire department from Bartlett answered the call. Fire of unknown origin burned for hours in the M. E. Butterfield pasture and part of the Clifford Walker pasture. The fire was ended when rain came.
